

Welcome back to Launching into Learning!

It has been joyful to have our families, old and new back in this space. Watching the children interact with the resources, each other and their parents has been a true delight! In term 3 there will be an overarching focus on oral literacy. In an early childhood setting, inquiry into oral literacy is achieved through play, song, dance and narrative.

Our Small Groups have taken off with success! In week one we have explored the many benefits of using song and rhyme to enhance children's communication skills. We will be documenting the conversations and discoveries along the way. Thankyou to the parents who have already engaged in the small group sessions; it is a privilege sharing in your child's journey.

There are a couple of spaces available for anyone with a child aged 4 years or younger. The small group sessions offer a chance for more intimate conversations. Each week take home packs are provided with resources to support oral literacy based on what the session has covered. The small group sessions or Friday's Stay and Play session, are relaxed and flexible based on the children's wants and needs,
